ENVIRONMENT & SUSTAINABILITY

Byrne Custom Joinery is dedicated to promoting environmental sustainability throughout its operations. The company takes a comprehensive approach to environmental responsibility, encompassing its office space, workshop floor, and the products it delivers.

To contribute to the Irish Government's Climate Action Plan targets, which aim for a 50% reduction in energy-related greenhouse gas emissions and a 50% improvement in energy efficiency by 2030, the company has implemented various sustainable initiatives.

Woodchip Green Bio Mass Burner

A key green initiative in the workshop. This burner utilizes waste materials generated within the factory, ensuring that no additional resources are consumed for heating purposes.

Transport Fleet

Investment in a fleet of aerodynamic and fuel-efficient vehicles, further reducing its carbon footprint associated with transportation.

Solar PV Panel System

We have installed a 150-Kilowatt solar PV panel system on our factory roof which is now generating 50% of our energy consumption. Byrne Custom Joinery procures its remaining electricity from a National Grid supplier who utilises alternative renewable sources like wind, solar, and hydro electric power.

Lean Manufacturing

These principles are applied throughout the company's internal processes to minimize non-value-added activities and enhance project delivery efficiency. In terms of sustainable building design, the manufacturing workshop facilities incorporate features such as the wood waste burner and a low-energy lighting system. Variant speed drives are also installed in machinery to optimize energy efficiency.

Waste Reduction and Recycling

All waste materials generated at the workshop and on-site are recycled, effectively minimizing the amount of waste sent to landfills, whilst collaborating with accredited waste suppliers to ensure responsible waste management practices.

By actively implementing these measures and continuously seeking new sustainable practices, Byrne Custom Joinery demonstrates its commitment to environmental stewardship and a greener future.

We invest in both people and technology to ensure we produce world-class products.

First impressions set the standard for a brand and finished pieces only depart our workshop if they leave a lasting positive impression. Our custom work may be the first thing your customers see, so we take that responsibility and your brand seriously, and in return we deliver work that both you and we can be proud of.

We take pride in both our work and our business to ensure you receive quality workmanship, competitive pricing, on-time delivery and a direct point of contact at all times.

We work on a zero snagging basis. If an issue arises we solve it as we go. We're pragmatic; sense is in our essence. We then follow through to ensure the safe arrival of all completed work as we pack and transport all work via our privately owned transport fleet.

We will ensure you receive quality workmanship, competitive pricing and on-time delivery.
